...New York American reproaches the ...s by our late fire, with neglecting to ...nsurance upon their property. It is ... shew the Editor that they were fault... ...this matter. There are two Agencies ...rance Offices in this town, one of which ...structions not to take a risk on any ... building or its contents, situated with... ...tain distance, (four rods,) of any other ... building. From the nature of the ...ls of which our town was chiefly built, ...be supposed that not much could be ... at that office. The other Agency had ...tions not to insure to a greater amount ...thousand dollars upon any one square. ...are few Insurance Offices in the South, ...se at the North had been so much a... ...by the frequent fires at Wilmington, Augusta, and other Southern towns, that they exacted such enormous premiums for risks as prevented many from making an effort to obtain insurance. Added to all this, it had been about thirty years since a fire had occurred in town, which destroyed more than one house. Under all these circumstances, we think it is matter of surprize that so much was insured.

It is due to the respectable proprietors of the two or three stores which were not destroyed, to correct an error into which the Miner's and Farmer's Journal, (and perhaps other papers) have fallen, in stating that "the remaining stores advanced the price of Corn to $1 50, and Bacon to 18¾ cents," (we quote from memory.) We have the best authority for contradicting this statement. It is true, we believe, that some of the smaller retail shops did advance the price of these articles, but it must be stated, to the credit of the people generally, that a remarkable degree of forbearance to avail themselves of their neighbors' distresses, was exercised by all classes.

The names of John Huske, Michael McGary, Hugh Campbell, Jr., John Carney, James Ryal, Da Capo Club, Thalian Association, Duncan Campbell, H. Sedberry, S. Sedberry, J. McCaskill, M McPherson, T. R. Murphey, Rev. W. G. H. Jones, Arch'd Taylor, were omitted in the list of sufferers by the fire. There are no doubt others, but the unsettled condition of every thing must be our apology for not having a perfect list.

A merchant of Philadelphia, who formerly resided in this place, offers his services to any of the sufferers by the late fire, in procuring for them any tools, implements, &c. on the best possible terms, free of any charge for commission or profit. Further information may be obtained at the Post Office.

Fayetteville Market.—The prices of Produce and Goods are much the same as before the fire. Flour $4 to 4 50, Bacon 7 to 8, Corn $1, Wool 27 to 28, Cotton 7 to 7 75, Salt 60 to 70, Iron 4 to 5, Sugar 7 to 9, Coffee 11 to 13, Molasses 30.

Execution.—On Friday next, the 16th inst., negro Bob will be executed in this town for the murder of his master, Jonathan Edwards.

We learn from the Newbern Sentinel, that a terrible outrage was committed in Duplin County, in this State, on the 29th ult. Miss Nancy Boyet, the daughter of a respectable widow, having left home with the intention of visiting a neighboring family, was found after night, shockingly mangled, in an adjoining pond. "From appearances, the murder must have been perpetrated at a distance of two hundred yards from the pond in which the body was found, and the resistance must have been desperate. The ground and bushes at the place of conflict, were much trodden and broken, and some lightwood limbs that were on the spot, appeared to have been used by the monster in completing his designs. The young Lady's combs were also found, broken and scattered on the ground. No discovery leading to the detection of the murderer, has yet been made, and with the exception of its fatal result, the whole transaction is yet a mystery to the neighborhood. It must have taken place about noon, in a thickly inhabited settlement, and on the public road leading from Whitehall to Fayetteville. An Inquest was held, and a verdict pronounced of 'rape and murder, by some person unknown."

Steamboat disaster.—The Cincinnati Commercial Advertiser, of the 1st instant, states that the elegant steamboat Brandywine, on her way up the river from New Orleans, was blown up, and that thirty lives were lost! No particulars are given, but the Advertiser adds that the information is derived from a source entitled to full credit.

Another!—The boiler of the General Jackson, exploded near New York on the 7th inst. with such violence as to drive out the bottom of the boat. At least six persons were killed, and upwards of twenty scalded, or otherwise injured.

Between one and two o'clock on the morning of last Sunday, an incendiary succeeded in setting fire to a dwelling house on Craven street. The family were providentially awaked by a feeling of suffocation produced by the smoke that had filled the chamber.— They gave the alarm, and were speedily and effectually assisted in arresting the progress of the flames. A negro slave who is suspected of having communicated the fire, has been committed for examination.

Newbern Sentinel.

We are concerned to state that the mill at Wrightsville Sound, of which Richard Bradley, Esq., is proprietor, was burned on the night of Sunday last, 5th inst., and that it was fired intentionally.—Wilmington Rec.

The Supreme Court of the State commences its summer term, in this City, on Monday next.—Ral. Reg. June 9th.

We learn that there has been a very extensive Revival at Chapel Hill, amongst the Students. It is said that every member of the College, with the exception of thirty, has made an open profession of Religion.—Ib.

We are gratified to have it in our power to state that the lady of Professor Hentz, late of our University, has received the premium of $600, offered in Philadelphia, for the best written Tragedy. The title of the Play, we are informed, is "the Moorish Bride," and its incidents are drawn from that period of History, immediately preceding the conquest of Grenada.—Ral. Reg.

We understand that the Trustees of our University, have effected without difficulty, a loan from the Branch of the United States' Bank, at Fayetteville, sufficient to relieve them from their present difficulties. Whilst the Legislature of the State, instead of cherishing this Institution as a just object of parental pride, refuses to advance the necessary means for its existence, save on the most degrading conditions, a business corporation established purely for monied transactions, cheerfully advances the requisite amount, with no security, but the Corporate Seal of the Trustees. Oh! shame, where is thy blush!

Ral. Reg.

The revolution in Brazil seems to have been bloodless and complete. By the extracts from the Baltimore papers it will be seen, that Don Pedro has abdicated in favor of his son, a boy of four years old, and had himself, with his newly married wife and his daughter Donna Maria, sailed for England. Nothing as yet was changed but the head of the government; a regency having been named during the minority of the young Pedro II. It is hardly to be expected, however, that the revolutionary ferment so prevailing just now, will be checked at that point. An infant sovereign and a regency that is not a unit, can hardly in these times and in such vicinities as those of Brazil, maintain their authority long.

Dreadful literary calamity.—The whole bundle of Mrs. Royal's Southern Tour, intended for her subscribers in this town, was burnt in the La Fayette hotel, in the late distressing fire at Fayetteville. We have heard of nothing like it, since the destruction of the Alexandrian Library.

Extraordinary Calf.—Mr. Isaac Newell, of this town, (Southfarms,) owns a Cow, whose Calf, when only two days old, weighed 144 pounds. Mr. Ezra Coe has purchased the same, intending to raise it.—Amer. Sen.

Fayetteville, June 13. 32-tf,

From the following letter of Gen. Jackson to a committee of citizens of Wilmington, in this State, it appears that he has relinquished his idea of visiting the South.

Washington City, May 23, 1831.

Gentlemen: I have received your letter of the 18th inst., inviting me to partake of the hospitality of the citizens of Wilmington, in the event of my taking a southern tour this season. This tour, I had contemplated with pleasure, last winter, as promising a useful relaxation from the cares of my office; but I find that a proper regard for the public interests, compels me to forego it. I can therefore, only tender you my thanks on this occasion, for the personal kindness of the citizens of Wilmington; and for the favorable view of my public services, which accompanies it.

I have the honor to be, &c.

ANDREW JACKSON.

Messrs. E. B. Dudley, O. Holmes, J. Hill.

FIRE IN FAYETTEVILLE!—On the opposite page, will be found a particular account of the destructive fire which has laid waste one of the largest and most flourishing towns in our State. We indulged the hope that rumor, as is most generally the case, had, in the first accounts we received, magnified the horrors of the scene and the extent of the calamity. But the account which we publish to-day, copied from a joint extra issued by the two Printing offices in Fayetteville, paints the melancholy event in vivid colors, and exhibits a scene of more exquisite misery, a desolation more deep, and distressing, than it has fallen to our lot to record for many years. We question much, whether a fire ever before occurred in the Union so destructive in its consequences, unless, perhaps, where human means have been concentrated to further rather than to check its progress. In addition to the details referred to, we learn through private advices, that many individuals are totally and irretrievably ruined—stripped of every thing as one of the sufferers feelingly says, "but life and hope." It is pretty well ascertained, that only about $70,000 was insured in the whole town. The effects of the fire, will be extensively felt in other places, particularly in Wilmington, New York and Philadelphia; where it is presumed large sums are owing by the Merchants. Many of our planters also suffered greatly by the burning of their produce, which had been stored in Fayetteville to await a market.

We are glad to see that the Charleston and Norfolk papers suggest the propriety of extending relief. We hope for the honor and humanity of our own State, that there will not be found a village or neighborhood in it, that will not cheerfully volunteer their mite in so beneficent a cause. Let none be deterred by the prospect of effecting but little. The mighty river which fertilizes every thing within its influence, derives its invigorating power from numberless and almost imperceptible tributaries. So may the smallest contribution, though powerless of itself to effect any great good, when strengthened and increased, here a little and there a little, be the means of dispensing comfort and consolation to many an aching bosom.

A very feeling and appropriate letter has been received by the Intendant of this City, from the Magistrate of Police of Fayetteville, acknowledging the prompt and efficient aid extended to the distressed inhabitants of that town, by the people of Raleigh.—Ral. Reg.

New York, June 6.

The Birmingham, from Liverpool, brings London papers to the 7th May. We know not by whose fault or neglect it is that we have no papers. We are indebted to the Gazette and Evening Post for loans of their files. The Poles, though without any well authenticated account of new battles, are still on the advance, and acting offensively, having occupied Siedlec, the late head-quarters of the Russians, who, in their turn, recrossed the Bug, a retrogade movement, that indicates great weakness or apprehension.

The elections in England go on triumphantly for Reform. Out of three hundred and eighty members returned, there had been an actual gain to the cause of reform of eighty. Liverpool had rejected Gen. Gascoyne, who has been one of its representatives for almost half a century, we believe! Mr. Ewart and Mr. Denison are elected. The Lord Advocate, Mr. Jeffrey, failed in Edinburgh, which is a close vote of the Guilds or Corporations, thirty-three in all. Mr. Dundas had 17; Mr. Jeffrey 14; scattering 2.

The following incident may serve to show the state of feeling which prevails in England on the Reform question. A foreman of a woollen draper in London, sent orders to a broker at the Stock Exchange to transfer £200 consols into the name of Lord Brougham. This was of course effected, and on inquiry into the circumstance, it was ascertained that the sum was the accumulated earning of a life of industry, and that the donor had no other object than that of marking his detestation of "the rascally boroughmongers," as he termed them, by transferring it to the man who had taken the lead in the measures for rooting them out. He should now, he said, go cheerfully to work to accumulate more.

New food for Cattle.—We find in the American Farmer, a communication from Exum Lewis, of Edgecomb Co. in this State, detailing a new mode (new at least to us) of fattening Cattle. The food used by Mr. L. is Turnips and Cotton Seed, in equal quantities, boiled together, with a little salt in it. He says he has fully tried it and that this preparation is preferable to any food he ever made use of. The turnips should be washed clean.—Ral. Reg.

NEW YORK CHEAP WHOLESALE CLOAK, STOCK, and CLOTHING WAREHOUSE—REMOVED.

THE Subscriber has removed his establishment from No. 18½, Maiden Lane, to the spacious No. 138, Pearl Street, over Messrs. Hyde, Clark & Co., where he will keep constantly on hand a more extensive assortment than formerly. The make, and materialsof the Cloaks will be greatly improved, and will be sold at about the same low rates as those of the last season. He has also on hand an assortment of low priced Clothing, made in the style, expressly for the Southern and Western trade, that will be sold at about the usual prices of the inferior quality. Also, an assortment of Stocks and many other desirable Articles. Those who will take the trouble to examine this Stock of Goods will probably satisfy themselves that they cannot select the same amount from any stock in the City that will be a safer or more desirable purchase. For sale by

F. J. CONANT, No. 138
Pearl Street, New York.

SHOCCO SPRINGS,

WARREN COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA.

Nine miles South of Warrenton and sixteen North of Louisburg.

ON the first day of June next, the Buildings of this Establishment will be prepared for the reception of Visiters. The Houses are large and numerous, sufficiently so, to accommodate an assemblage of two or three hundred persons comfortably.

The Subscriber is flattered with the expectation that the conveniencies and improvements which have been added to this Establishment, in all those matters which essentially concern the health, comfort and amusement of its visiters, will render it the most pleasing season more attractive than ever. The private apartments will afford ample retirement to invalid families, and others who prefer it. They are so arranged, as to combine every convenience and accommodation suited to the largest or smallest assemblage of male and female. Arrangements are also made to meet the particular design of accommodating large families, by affording them large, spacious cabins, to or remote as they may select from the main building, with double and single rooms, where they can be at all times perfectly secure in the enjoyment of quiet retirement.

The Subscriber pledges herself to devote her exertions to the accommodation of private families, and will spare no pains to render their visits pleasant and agreeable, by providing every thing that can contribute to their health, and by carefully guarding against annoyances of every description.

The Public Halls are abundantly spacious to receive all who may desire company.

No Public Balls will be given at Shocco during the season, but those who delight in Music and Dancing can partake of them without its disturbing repose, in the slightest degree, the rest of the house.

Few WATERING PLACES present more natural objects of attraction than SHOCCO. Located in the most healthy, rich and populous part of the country, in the midst of a polished society, it unites with its Springs an climate many advantages, giving it ascendancy over all Mineral Watering Places in the South. It is believed that the water never fails in its sanative effects upon persons afflicted with Dyspepsia, Bilious Diseases and general debility, when they have persevered in its use.

An arrangement will be made to have Divine worship performed at the Spring on the Sabbath, when such visiters as may choose, can attend public worship without inconvenience.

My terms for Board, &c., will be the same as last year, viz. $1 per day for each grown person, 50 cts. per month, or $6 per week; Children half price. Servants half price. For Horses $15 per month, 60 cents per day.
